

HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, - - - Editor.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.:
FRIDAY, - Sept. 18, 1891.

L. T. Wood has severed his connection with the Mt. Sterling Gazette, having sold out to John C. and J. H. Wood.

If this State is to be thoroughly set in "pennyrite" Gov. Brown should have a "sage grass" man to scatter the seed in this end of the State.

The venerable Dr. J. G. Chinn, so well known everywhere, died at the residence of his grandson, Dr. C. W. Trapp, in Lexington, on the 8th inst., at the age of 94 years.

Attorney General Hendrick is a hustler in his new office. The first day was a busy one for him. He submitted twelve briefs, made seven or eight motions, and delivered one important opinion.

The Constitutional Convention is again wasting the people's money by prolonging its stay in Frankfort, and fears are entertained lest it will not adjourn in time for the Legislature to meet.

Capt. Jas. B. Martin, Assistant Clerk of the convention, who was also a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals against Addams, is making the race for Clerk of the Circuit Court of Barren county, which office he has never resigned.

The daily papers inform us that the Con. Con.-ers are "making some very important changes" in the Constitution as adopted at the recent election. By what right, we should like to ask, can they change an instrument once ratified by the people?

The monthly crop report of Commissioner Wilson is all that could be desired. The vegetable crop was never better, the potato yield, it is said, being marvelous. Corn and tobacco are showing heavy returns, but little harm having been done either crop by rain or drouth.

The grand jury of Scott county last week returned an indictment for manslaughter against Milton H. Kendall, Sr., for the shooting of Burrell Jarvis, and two indictments for murder against Milton H. Kendall, Sr., Milton H. Kendall, Jr., George "Boot," and Popsy Kendall, and for killing A. J. Montgomery.

The Frankfort Capital, than which there is not more outspoken journal in the State, wisely puts its thus: "A number of our exchanges are clamoring for special road laws for their respective counties. We are deeply pained, gentlemen, to say to you that the new Constitution, which you so earnestly favored, prohibits special legislation. If you wish a road law you must frame one that will fit the whole State. That Constitution is loaded, but when we told you so last summer you retorted that we were an enemy of the people and a friend of the corporations."

The Lexington Press of Saturday contains the announcement of Mr. H. T. Duncan, its editor, is a Democratic candidate for Mayor of the city of Lexington. We have known Mr. Duncan for a life time and if devotion to the Democratic party during that time counts for anything, can safely predict that he will be the nominee of the party. For twenty-one years he has edited the Press, and in all that time he was never known to sulk, grow sour or squeal, but has ever been in the vanguard fighting for victory. This too without reward, and now the "boys in the trenches" should pay him a handsome testimonial by giving him the nomination unanimously.

Mr. Polk, one of the editors of the Lexington Transcript, is busily engaged in a scheme to run a canal from some point on the Kentucky River by way of Lexington, and thus change the course of that historic stream to a channel of commerce. That Lexington is making rapid strides in improvement no one will deny, neither can any one acquainted with the city but admit that water has always been her greatest need. A few years since it was sought to supply this deficiency by artificial means and, with a first class system of water works. Many were sanguine enough to think the object had been attained. A recent visit to that city, however, demonstrates that water is now scarcer than ever, the supply being used for toilet, laundry and culinary purposes only, so that the thirsty visitor is compelled to resort to other beverages to quench his thirst. "When in Rome do as the Romans do," is a good rule to apply when in Lexington, but nevertheless the rural rooster who visits that place and finds no water to have his fevered brow or quench a burning thirst feels that he is "a fish out of water." We've been there, and know that some such project as Mr. Polk's is absolutely essential to the progress of the dear old town, and we therefore wish him all success with his scheme.

The Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal, South, which was in session at Harrodsburg last week, made the following appointments for this district.

Ezel Evolutions.

I know a little man,
They call him "Lucky Dicky,"
He has a little horse,
They call him "Plucky Tricky."

Dickey put him on our track
And "spun" him 'round a while,
And claims he beat the boys
In trotting half a mile.

He knows his time was beat
Before he left the track,
And how the boys all yelled,
"Bring Plucky Tricky back."

The way he got the ribbons
The people ought to know;
He tied them on himself
As he passed through Jericho.

John D. Henry has the best team of cattle in this part of the country, one yoke of which weighs 3,152 pounds.

He will take this pair
To the Hazel Green Fair;
I've seen none so good
In this neck o' wood;
He'll capture the prize
For beauty and size.

Wm. Lawson, son of Jeremiah Lawson, went from here to Elliott county, about two weeks ago, took measles and died there yesterday.

Dr. F. M. Thomas has rounded D. G. Combs' interest in the Ezel Mill, and is making as good a mill man as he has been a physician.

Levi B. Carpenter's daughter, Lou, was stricken with paralysis yesterday and has been in a critical condition since. Dr. A. B. Nickell and wife and Eli Pieratt and wife are visiting at West Liberty.

Stephen Sample and wife are visiting relatives and friends in Virginia. Leonard Prater and Miss Minnie Nickell are on the sick list.

BLURT.

Maytown Missiles.

We have often heard the cry, "what has become of the city dads?" With the same propriety we exclaim, "what has become of our country dads?" Will they allow the country roads to remain in a condition that they are dangerous to ride or drive? The county road from Blackwater, west of Ezel, to the crossing of same, east of Ezel, and still further on, is fearful. If it was not the County Judge was a near relative, we would wish he had to drive a bucking mule over this road one time at least.

W. W. Manker sold to Aleck Patrick one house and lot in town for $750 cash. Mr. Patrick will move to town in October or November.

Born, to the wife of R. A. Day, Sunday, a fine boy.
